Atomic Batteries long life warranty

Atomic batteries in normal service environments come with up to a 2-year warranty. Atomic batteries in commercial or extreme service environments such as high heat and vibration come with up to 1-year warranty.

Warranty

This Warranty does not cover batteries that fail due to improper charging, incorrect fitment, broken container or cover, damage caused by fire, excessive heat, wreckage, explosion, freezing, damage caused by abuse, neglect, road trains, high vibration environments over 12 months or the use of special additives introduced to the battery after it has been sold to you.

Under the Australian Consumer Law, you are entitled to a replacement or refund for a major failure or if the goods fail to be of acceptable quality and the failure does not amount to a major failure. If the battery is found to be defective in material or workmanship (and not merely discharged or flat) during the period specified Atomic Batteries will provide a replacement battery.

All warranty claims are subject to a full battery assessment and return a failed battery test result. If the battery is deemed as faulty, we will arrange a new replacement.

Battery maintenance advice

To care for your new battery and maximise its operational life, reducing the likelihood of non-Warranty issues which may affect batteries over time, Atomic Batteries suggest:

- Have the charge rate checked during every major service or at least every 6 months. This is because both undercharging and overcharging will reduce your battery's life.
- When your vehicle is driven infrequently or only in short trips it is likely that the battery will gradually discharge over time. In these circumstances it is advised to charge your vehicle battery regularly.
- A maintenance battery charger is highly recommended to keep the battery operating at optimum capacity.
- Inspect for any unnecessary sources of heat or vibration around the area where battery is fitted and remove the sources to extend the service life of the battery.
- For use in harsh service environments such as high heat and high vibration or use in cycling applications, AGM battery is highly recommended for extended service life.

Date code information and CCA rating

Date code information

The date of dispatch from the warehouse is clearly marked on the top lid of every battery.

10 Digit code interpretation

Sample code: 0 10 01 2 3 0 15

Code will be read this way:

Battery was produced on October 01 2000 at assembly line 2 during 3rd shift, using expanded/expanded plates and having 15 plates per cell.

Digit	Sample	Interpretation
1st	0	Year end digit -"0" means year 2000
2nd & 3rd	10	Month digit - "10" means October
4th & 5th	01	Day digit "1" means day 1
6th	2	Assembly line
7th	3	Shift code
8th	0	Plate combination ie expanded/expanded (0), cast green/exp (1) castgreen/castgreen (2) dry charged (3)
9th & 10th	15	Number of plates per cell

CCA rating information

The industry recognised standard for defining starting power is Cold Cranking Amps (CCA). The battery's ability to perform is measured by the amount of current the battery can deliver at -18°C (0°F) over 30 seconds, while maintaining a voltage equivalent of 1.2 volts per cell or higher.

The Reserve Capacity (RC) rating represents the number of minutes a battery can supply a load of 25 amps and maintain a voltage of 1.75 volts or higher per cell (10.5 volts for a 12 volt battery).

All CCA ratings on Atomic batteries comply with Original Equipment Manufacturer specifications. This allows us to accommodate a wider range of fitments, particularly for National Assistance Programs.

Please note cross referenced part numbers with (*) has different post assembly.

Battery recommendations in this specifications guide are based on the latest information available. Due to battery compartment variations, it is recommended bonnet clearance, hold-down heights, battery tray or container dimensions are checked.

Performance ratings and capacities shown in this specifications guide are validated in laboratories in accordance with Australian Standard 2149. Battery performance may vary under different operating conditions.
